

IRS 990 Filings – Spreadsheet Excerpts

Data Dictionary

Key variables

Each data file contains six common variables to facilitate linkage across files: Employer Identification Number, tax year begin date, tax year end date, organization name (line 1 and line 2), Record ID, and IRS E-file ID. The IRS assigns a unique numeric E-file ID (`irs_efile_id`) to each tax return filed electronically. We assign a Record ID (`open990_record_id`) to the most recently submitted filing for a given tax period. In cases of amended returns, only the amended return for the organization appears in the dataset. Record IDs are composed of EIN + tax year and month; consequently, if an organization submitted filings for tax periods ending in the same calendar year but a different month, its EIN will appear more than once in a data file.

Variable Name	Data Type
<code>ein org</code>	text
<code>name org line 1</code>	text
<code>name org line 2</code>	text
<code>tax date begin</code>	date
<code>tax date end</code>	date
<code>irs efile id</code>	text
<code>open990 record id</code>	text

Notes about nomenclature

We assigned each variable one of seven mutually exclusive data types.

Data Type	Values
text	alpha, certain numeric (e.g., ZIP codes), or alphanumeric
date	yyyy-mm-dd
unary	true or blank
binary	yes or no
currency	numeric in U.S. dollars
integer	numeric without decimal
decimal	non-currency numeric with option of a decimal

Locations in the header section are referred to as “Blocks” rather than “Lines” and are identified by letter.

Example: 990 Header_Block L

Binary fields with columns labeled “yes” or “no” are represented by the line number only. The value will be “yes” or “no.”

Example: 990_Part VI_Line 13

Variables corresponding to checkbox fields (typically unary) contain the word that appears next to the checkbox on the form.

Example: 990_Header_Block K_Association

Locations that include columns are identified first by line number and then specify the descriptive label for that column.

Example: 990_Part I_Line 8_Prior year

If a column is labeled both with a descriptive label and a letter (or Roman numeral), that letter (or numeral) is displayed without the full column description.

Example: 990_Part IX_Line 11a(A)

Applied Nonprofit Research has chosen to redact certain fields to protect the privacy of individuals. Fields that were redacted by Applied Nonprofit Research contain the word “Redacted.” These fields were not redacted by the IRS.

Example: 990_Header_Block F_Person Name

Variables included in available datasets

Variable names reflect the corresponding paper location for the IRS 990 forms from 2017, with underscores indicating levels of specificity.

Notes:

- Values are not hyphenated. This applies to phone numbers, zip codes, and EINs, for example.
- Only organizations that list an address in a country other than the United States have a value in “country” fields.
- Only Column B (End of year) of Part X appears in the current version of this dataset.

irs990_part_07b_list: IRS 990 Part VII, Section B, list of highly compensated independent contractors.

- There is one row per contractor per filing.

irs990ez_part_03_list: IRS 990-EZ Part III, list of program service accomplishments.

Variable Name	Data Type
990 EZ Part III Programs Description lines	text
990 EZ Part III Programs Grants line	currency
990 EZ Part III Programs Foreign grants checkbox	unary
990 EZ Part III Programs Expenses column	currency

Notes:

- There is one row per program service accomplishment per filing.
- EZ filings that described programs as “none,” “n/a,” “not applicable”, or “” (zero-length text) appear with empty cells in the description column. Capitalization does not matter in making this determination.
- EZ filings that do not contain any values in any of the four fields listed above were omitted from the dataset.
- Known issue: In cases where a filing included a row that contained no information other than one of the above empty-equivalent values, a blank record may appear in the dataset.
